

Diaphonic Band Biography

Diaphonic is a Progressive Rock band from Morges, Switzerland. The band started in 2004 as Thomas Weeks, singer, and Bastien Waeny, guitarist, started playing music together. Since then Michael Zaradez joined on Keyboards and Cyril Jeanneret on drums, both of whom are currently finishing professional music training. Finally Stéphane Felix joined them on bass guitar.

They have brought out 3 E.P. CDs so far. An instrumental 'demo' in 2009. The CD 'II' came out in 2011 and features four songs by Diaphonic. And this year, 2014, they have just brought out a new E.P. called 'TROY'. The two latter CDs are available on iTunes, CDbaby, Amazon MP3,.... They have played in many venues and festivals around french-speaking Switzerland, including the D! club in Lausanne, Paillote Festival, Fête de la musique de Morges, in the theatre play 'Blake's Revolution,...(see Diaphonic's website to view a full list of their concerts)

Its main influences are progressive music from the 70s and the Doors but since then they have incorporated various touches from many differing styles, and they like having the freedom to go in any direction they like. They also like working on their range of sounds and rhythms to make the music richer. Although based in French-speaking Switzerland, their text are written in English by Thomas Weeks who is part British and studied Classics for three years at Nottingham University, UK.

About 'TROY', the New 'Epic' CD

This new E.P., 'TROY' takes an 'epic' characteristic by inspiration from Homer's Iliad and Odyssey. It was named after the mythological city that hosted the devastating Trojan war, where Ulysses was a hero before starting his long journey back home. This theme is most developed in Ithaka, and found through images and symbols in the other three tracks, Lost Idyll, Tidy Duty and Nightrider. With two extended tracks the Cd lasts for a total of over 40mins, which was entirely composed, recorded and produced by Diaphonic in Switzerland.
