www.therecordlabel.net/progressive-rock/gekko-projekt/

Gekko Projekt are a four-piece progressive rock ensemble consisting of guitar (Peter Matuchniak), keyboards (Vance Gloster), bass (Rick Meadows) and drums (Alan Smith), that blends traditional symphonic progressive rock and jazz fusion with modern influences. Gekko Projekt released their debut album "Electric Forest" in 2012 and have begun to gig in their local area of Southern California. Key influences are King Crimson, UK, Yes, Genesis, ELP and Weather Report.

Official Press Release for CD "Electric Forest" (2012)

Their debut album "Electric Forest" has ten tracks that run the gamut from a miniature rock opera (Avatar Jones) to a progressive radio single (Black Hole), with strong progressive instrumentals (Particle Dance, Erdinger) rounding out the release. It features soaring guitars reminiscent of Genesis and real analog synths ala Yes, supported by driving bass and drums that harken back to Rush. The band had this to say, "We feel that our debut CD has found a perfect home at ProgRock Records and will appeal to many of its discerning listeners." Guitarist Peter Matuchniak, whose previous band, Evolve IV, was also signed to ProgRock Records, had this to say, "I'm delighted to be involved in releasing yet another CD through Shawn Gordon".

"I've known Peter since 2008 now and have been privileged to hear this music evolve and even see them live, they've really created something special here that I think you will really enjoy.", said Shawn Gordon, President of ProgRock Records.
