Jacob Messianic is a singer / songwriter from Manchester, UK. With an insanely eclectic taste, the love of all things sonically presented and also the a huge interest in the arts worldwide.

Jacob Messianic has been striving for influences far and wide to draw on experience of the world, both good and bad, in an unprecedented combination displaying itself as "The World to Come".

The Messianic age is hiding behind the horizon and the new world that will rise at the dawn will not only propel us in to a new age but a new way of thinking. The album, The World to Come, is a gesture towards this future time and an outright love of music of all that surrounds this environment and atmosphere.

Singer and songwriter, Jacob Messianic has locked himself away in the studio after absorbing his surroundings and the product of that is The World to Come. As a concept album, there is a focused route from beginning to end but that of a somewhat broken mindset. Becoming apparent in the passing of the lead from vocals to guitars and back again throughout the experience.
