Lyrics: Marco Petucco; Odilon Gonçalves

There're so many things that I regret
And they're choking me
I worked as they squirmed in pain
I fed my success over their suffering

Just as much as I need to talk
You must open your mind
No one was wise enough to know who we were
And you were fooled until today

When I first saw all those lives
Being torn away from health
I stopped the process and I tried
To give up, to go home, but then

They offered me a fortune and
They said "you must agree to hide
The truth from spotlights and then
Take the rest of the week to rest"

Shame
Regret
Guilty conscience

I was in a living hell
But I didn't know it yet
I did that just for money, ignoring
What was torn by my own hands

Ring the bells and spread these words
This is real, this is the truth

And please help me find a way
To repair all that I've done

"You have the obligation to remain silent
Anything you say about us can and will be used against you
No one needs to know or even can know what we do here
You already know why this company does what it does
So all that you've said so far will be cleaned
And all these thoughts of repentance and guilt will be erased"

Duty
Science
Evolution

Stop hiding, your name is Proudhome

Well, here I am, once again
I am sending my virtues to hell
And you are shaking
And you are begging
And I look at you and I feel nothing
This is my duty, it's my life
I know this is for a greater good

For every time I've put my dirty hands on you
And every time I've hurt you
I regret, I regret every single day
But I know I'm right
I know this is the right thing to do
And I know that some must suffer
For others to survive

Duty
Science
Evolution

Stop hiding, your name is Proudhome

Well, here I am, once again
I am sending my virtues to hell
And you are shaking
And you are begging
And I look at you and I feel nothing
This is my duty, it's my life
I know this is for a greater good
Stop hiding, your name is Proudhome
